

Please do not increase the number of broadcast media sources that can be owned by one entity. Large corporations already have too much power in radio, television, and newspapers. We already see too much slanted "news" by these people trying to skew public opinions toward more big money control and less personal freedom. We need more diversity, not less, in media information.

Blaine Moore